Tokio Looking to America for Cooperation in Keeping Germans From East.

By HARRY S. BROWN.

The new and startling phase of the war caused by the collapse of Russia and affecting everything in the Far East and the Pacific has only begun to reach appreciation in the eyes of Americans. discussion has been confined to the probable effect of a separate peace be-iween Germany and Russia as it would bear upon the fortunes of the Allies of the Entente upon the various fronts from Riga to the Black Sea, from Salonica to the Adriatic, along the Italian line of activity, and finally from Switzerland to activity, and finally from Switzerland to the North Sea. Comparatively speaking this was "near home" and attention was engrossed with the possibilities affecting the safety of Paris, Rome and London, while sight was lost of the broader sweep which took in Tokio, Pekin, Harbin, Bagdad, Calcutta and Manila.

Japan is alive to the possibilities of the situation, and is leaving no stone unturned in order that it may be understood in this country, and the occasion presents opportunities for the broadest statesmanship the United States has ever been called upon to put into play.

Germany's Peace Plans.

Here was Germany talking peace all the time, ready and eager to make peace with Russia, intimating that she would forego all territorial aggression and all indemnities and with a territory all mapped out under German control reaching from the sand dunes of the Friesian Islands to Bagdad and beyond. Germany had succeeded in tying up Austria-Hungary and Turkey as vassals, had conquered Serbia and Montenego, had placed Bulgaria in the position of a vassal State and had won part of Rumannia, insuring her a port on the Black Sea.

Chairman Lever to Keep Committee in Session Until He "Gets Action."

WASHINGTON, June 3.—One of the hardest fights for the passage of an Administration war measure is due to start this week, when the Agricultural Committee of the House reports the second Lever food bill. This is the regulatory measure which sets up a food administration with virtually absolute powers

Although the first bill—the food sur vey and production measure—passed both Houses, sponsors of the food legis-lation realize their work has only begun.

Teeth Drawn From Bill.

The survey and production bill is not in the shape desired by officials of the Department of Agriculture for the present ent emergency. They said to-day that its teeth had been drawn by the changes made in the Senate. They die not like the modification of the drastic clause which would have enabled the Department. which would have enabled the Department in taking the food census to confiscate the business of any dealer who refused to divulge information of the stocks on hand.

Neither were the Department officials pleased with the slashes in the appropriations. They cite as an evidence of what their helpleasees has been the priations. They cite as an evidence of what their helplessness has been the fact that Southern speculators have been hoarding 200,000 bushels of soy seed beans and have run the price to five or six times the normal figure, with the result that the prices have become prohibitive and the farmers have stopped planting. The Department has not been able to take any action.

munity does its share, Joseph Hartigan, Commissioner of Weights and Measures, said last night in suggesting the necessity of a food administrator for the city of New York during the war. With close cooperation between local food administrators throughout the country and the Federal authority, he explained, the success of the national food administrator, Herbert C. Hoover, can best be attained. "New York needs a food administrator of its own," he said. "This city has problems peculiar and distinct from any other community. Its population of nearly 6,000,000 people exceeds that of several States. Its wholesale and retail food distributing dealers are an army in themselves.

"By a food administrator I do not mean a commissioner or director of markets. I mean one who will be solely responsible for the solutions of supply, distribution and prices, as well as to guard against and to cause the punishment of those who hoard food and food supplies with the object of illegal speculation. In fact the food administrator for this city should have powers similar to those proposed for the national food administrator, except that their application shall be made local and he should be made answerable to the Mayor for his conduct.

Mr. Bruere points out that there are 100 municipalities in the country which have adopted the city manager form of have adopted the city manager form of government. His functions would be wholly on the administrative side. He would not determine policies nor would he have a voice in making appropriations. To avoid the necessity of his dealing with questions of public policy Mr. Bruere, for instance, would have the Police Department, that stumbling block of administrations, put under the jurisdiction of the Mayor, as well as the departments of Education, Civil Service and Taxes and Assessments.
